

Lomography Workshop

In conjunction with the Krappy Kamera Competition show, Lomography will offer a free workshop at SohoPhoto Gallery on Saturday March 25th at 11 am.

The Diana is one of the quintessential plastic cameras. The beautiful images of this year's guest, Anne Arden McDonald, are all shot with a Diana.

Staff member from Lomography will lead this fun, hand-on workshop and teach you how to get the most out of the Diana.

Equally suitable for those who shoot with plastic cameras, and those who have never seen one, the first part of the workshop will be devoted to getting familiar with the camera. Following, there will be time to go outside and experiment on your own. The workshop will end around 1 pm. Cameras will be on loan and film will be provided. Participation is limited to 20 people, on a first come first serve basis. The address is SohoPhoto Gallery, 15 White Street, in TriBeCa.

To reserve a place please contact Silvia Marinari at shakanoglu@gmail.com